

[REDACTED]

Occupying a medieval [REDACTED] burgage plot,
it was first licensed as the [REDACTED] in 1715.
Rebuilt by the [REDACTED] family in the 1880s, it later extended into the row of Georgian working men's cottages.
John Betjeman described it as
'the very heart of Leeds'

[REDACTED]
Saxophonist, clarinettist and [REDACTED]
lived here 1919-1922.

For over four decades from 1940 [REDACTED] [REDACTED] performing in prestige venues at home and abroad.

[REDACTED] BBC's Resident
Dance Band in 1943 confirmed [REDACTED] significant contribution to
[REDACTED]

1913-1993

[REDACTED]
This late Victorian public house was formerly known as the Hope and Anchor. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] it is one of the longest continually
running [REDACTED] venues
in the UK.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] lived here 1905-1907.

Born in Woodhouse, [REDACTED] struggled to achieve financial independence as a school teacher. Inspired by Christabel Pankhurst, [REDACTED] was imprisoned in [REDACTED] for [REDACTED] protests at the House of Commons and elsewhere.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

1881 - 1973

[REDACTED]

1875 - 1955

Leeds born and bred and a profoundly committed Quaker, he was a politician, social reformer, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Liberal MP for Leeds West [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Lived here 1923-1955

[REDACTED]
The rise of this pioneering Leeds industrialist was meteoric. [REDACTED]
woollen mill. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Using his wealth to buy this estate, he had its grounds landscaped by Humphrey Repton. The house, whose remodelling in neo-Grecian style is attributed to Sir Robert Smirke, was filled with paintings, sculpture and books.

1762-1840

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] MP representing Leeds North East then Leeds South East from 1945 to 1970, held [REDACTED] constituency surgeries
in this building. As a minister, [REDACTED] introduced comprehensive education [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

1909-1993

[Redacted]

Was Leeds' first sporting superstar.
A supreme goal-kicker and talismanic captain

[Redacted]

[Redacted]

His crowning glory was leading the team to the first ever 'grand slam' of all four Rugby
League trophies [Redacted]

1871 - 1943

[REDACTED]

Opened in 1970, [REDACTED] has become the social and cultural heart of the city's [REDACTED] Community.

Now drawing millions of viewers, [REDACTED]
was pioneered here [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
Opened as the [REDACTED] Picture House on 29 July 1912 by film pioneers Owen Brooks
and George Reginald Smith. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
the oldest continually operating
[REDACTED] in Leeds.